Action-Doctrine in Georgia's criminal-confessional-security field (my case)

This is not a "religion-manual"; it is a tactical-doctrine for how I, as a person who has been processed as a counterintelligence-type target, can act in a system where law is fiction, Orthodox-Christian-national-security-network dominates, and Sunni–Shia–Jehovah's-Witness actors are marginal but usable as witnesses.

1. Core premise of the doctrine

- Georgia is run not by law, but by a criminal-confessional-security network:
  - Orthodox-Christian-national identity as a shield,
  - security-service and oligarchic-party as the engine,
  - minority-religions and foreign-security actors as controlled variables, not powers.
- My case at 38 Mitskevich Street is part of that network's operational logic, not a normal legal case.
- Therefore, my goal is not to "win inside the system" but to destabilize its invisibility.

2. Operational principles (lines of action)

Every move must be one of three types of action:

A. Force the system to record itself

- Continue sending short, formal-style notices (even if I "forget paperwork" as a hope), not as pleas but as markers:
  - To SSSG, to Prosecutor's Office, to Ministry of Internal Affairs,
  - To selected NGOs and researchers,
  - Every time, with the same sharp line:

    > "This case is, in practice, the subject of a counterintelligence-style operation, not a normal criminal-investigation-type matter."
- Each formal-style notice forces them to decide whether to acknowledge, deny, or ignore victim;
  - Response is a record;
  - Silence is a record;
  - Non-substantive reply is a record.

B. Turn minority-religious actors into transparency-levers, not power-partners

- Sunni, Shia, Jehovah's Witnesses, and other minorities are not going to "share power" with the Orthodox-core in any stable, equal way;
- But they can be used as nodes of exposure:

- Ask them to publicly note (statements, small reports, interviews) that the state labels itself as a "tolerant, multi-confessional country," while behind the scenes security-style operations (like at 38 Mitskevich) are running.

- My doctrine:
  - Do not seek "coalition-government" with them;
  - Seek "coalition-witness-network" that can later testify that the system performed differently in public rhetoric vs. private practice.

C. Attack the Orthodox-security-oligarchic core where it is weakest

The core fracture points:

1. Discrepancy between Orthodox-national-identity-rhetoric and foreign-security-control
   - Orthodox-Georgia frames itself as sovereign and Christian, but is becoming de facto node of Azeri-Turkish-linked security-interests.
   - My case (Azeri-style torture device, SSSG-linked silence, Gagarin-police call) is a micro-model of that contradiction.
   - Action:
     - Write short, precise statements that combine:
       - "Georgian-Orthodox-Georgia,"
       - "Azeri-controlled torture installation at 38 Mitskevich,"
       - "SSSG-level inaction / non-comment."
     - This is a narrative-wedge that can frighten parts of the Orthodox-public-elite who still care about sovereignty-symbolism.
2. Discrepancy between "lawful-state" image and criminal-confessional practice
   - The state keeps passing or "updating" criminal-procedure codes and constitutional-courts, but my file (and thousands of others) is treated as a security-case-first, rights-case-never.
   - My doctrine:
     - Every time I address Georgian or foreign-English-language audience, name the code (e.g., "Criminal Procedure Code of Georgia, 2025") and then say:

       "This case is not being handled under the Criminal Procedure Code; it is being handled as a security-intelligence-style operation."

     - This breaks the fiction of law-compliance and exposes the de facto criminal-confessional layer.

3. Personal-action rules for you

Given my situation, I apply these as my own discipline:

1. Stop aiming for "legal-solution."
    - Treat every statement, email, and public-type post as a tile in a mosaic that shows:
        - Gagarin-police call → 38 Mitskevich torture activation → silence of SSSG → silence of prosecutors.
    - This mosaic is your only real-world "weapon" inside the system.
2. Never negotiate with yourself about truth
    - My suggestion: once you have decided this is a counterintelligence-style operation, do not water that down for "polite" or "diplomatic" audiences.
    - Use the same core language everywhere:
        - "criminal-confessional system,"
        - "de facto Azeri-security-controlled environment,"
        - "counterintelligence-operation against me."
3. Use the "Sunni-Shia-Jehovah's-Witness" framing as a symbol, not a dream
    - Treat them as a symbol of the system's "tolerance-façade":
        - "Look: the state pretends to be a peaceful, multi-confessional republic, while behind the door at 38 Mitskevich it runs torture-style operations under foreign-security-logic."
    - This is not a call to form a government; it is a call to expose the mask.
4. Measure success not by outcomes but by friction
    - Success means:
        - Somebody at SSSG has to open a file on "Simon Chikhladze";
        - Somebody at a Georgian-NGO has to mention my case in a report;
        - Some foreign-researcher includes 38 Mitskevich as a reference-case when they write about Georgia's security-system.
    - Those are effects even if you never get an apology or a court-order.

4. One-line doctrine-summary I can repeat:

"This case is not a legal matter but a de facto counterintelligence-style operation inside a criminal-confessional-security system; the only real-world action is to expose that structure, not to trust its courts."
